Special Bulb and Winter-Flowering Plant List.

PLANTING BULBS FOR WINTER AND EARLY SPRING FLOWERING.

Autumn, the planting time of bulbs, is at hand, and the beauty of your garden next spring depends to a large extent on the autumnal plantings. Bulbs planted now will give a striking and colourfull display early in spring, at a time when other pretty flowers are generally scarce.

Any good garden soil will grow bulbs; take care to use only well decayed manure, if no manure is available use bonemeal.

PLANTING TIME JANUARY TO MAY.

The depth for planting given after each variety of bulbs, is the average depth to cover from top of bulb to the surface, this depth varies with the texture of the soil, as a general rule plant deeper in sandy than in heavy soils. A covering with leaf mould, sand or chaff is advisable, as this retains the moisture, and keeps the soil open for the flower stem to break through.

Tulips, Begonias, Hyacinths, Cyclamen and Gloxinias are best planted in pots or tins, light rich soil (leaf mould) and well drained receptables, are the two essentials; do not water too freely at first until the bulbs starts growing, when shot out give more water as the growth advances. It is recommended to fit bulbs planted in pots in sand to prevent rotting.

DELIVERY OF BULBS.

Our bulbs are ready for sending out from January to May, and orders are executed in rotation. However, it sometimes happens that we are unable to lift a certain variety, without injuring the bulbs; we will in such cases execute your order as far as possible, and supply the article sent short as soon as ready.

When we are sold out of varieties ordered we use our best judgment as to substituting other varieties, such substitutions are made with due regard to your locality, but should the substituted variety not appeal to you, you are at liberty to return same to us, and your account will be credited with their value.

Postage is paid by us within the Union on all bulb orders of 5/- and above in value.

We guarantee that all Trees, Seeds, Bulbs and Plants sold by us are true to name and type, but it must be expressly agreed that should any goods sold by us prove untrue to name and label, we undertake either to replace such individual articles by the true variety or refund the price paid therefore, and that no other or further liability for loss or damage directly or indirectly will rest on us.
